1. Evaluations are intended to communicate to a faculty member a qualitative assessment of that faculty member's performance of assigned duties by providing him/her written constructive feedback that will assist in improving the faculty member's performance and expertise.

(a) The performance of a faculty member shall be evaluated at least once annually, with the following exceptions:

(1) Faculty members on visiting appointments.

(2) Faculty members hired late in the Academic Year who have worked less than three months before the end of the evaluation period.

(3) Faculty members who have resigned, and

(4) Faculty members who have not yet been reappointed for the following Academic Year or have been issued notice of termination for just cause.

(b) The period of annual evaluation cycle begins June 1 and ends May 31 of the following year.

(c) Personnel decisions shall be based on written annual evaluations, provided that such decisions need not be based solely on written faculty performance evaluations.

2. Sources of Evaluation

An annual evaluation is a subjective assessment of an individual's performance based on objective criteria. The criteria are useful tools for evaluating overall performance. The evaluation is intended to be comprehensive and not based on a single or limited number of criteria. Therefore, the person responsible for completing the faculty member's annual evaluation shall consider all appropriate and available information that is relevant to the faculty member's performance of assigned responsibilities. The materials in the evaluation file and documented information from the following sources: immediate supervisor, peers, students (if applicable), faculty member/self, other University officials who have responsibility for supervision of the faculty member, and individuals to whom the faculty members may be responsible in the course of a service assignment may be used in the evaluation process. Materials submitted by persons other than the faculty member shall be shown to the faculty member, who may attach a written response. Any materials that have not been shown to the faculty member cannot be used in the evaluation process. Whenever a single or limited number of criteria are deemed controlling, the written evaluation must justify that conclusion.

(a) Library Faculty Position Description

(1) Each library faculty member shall be provided a written position description. The position description shall be kept on file in the library administrative office.

(2) Changes in a faculty member's position description may be proposed by the faculty member, by the faculty member's supervisor, by a library director, or by the library

dean. Any proposed changes to the description must be reviewed by the faculty member and his/her supervisor before they can take effect. Examples of changes in responsibility include, but are not limited to, the additions of supervisory duties, or the significant broadening of job responsibilities. The supervisor can, in consultation with the librarian, reprioritize assigned duties.

(b) Library Faculty Assigned Activities

See Appendix H1-2

- (1) At the beginning of each evaluation period, each library faculty member will be assigned activities that the faculty member is expected to perform during the annual evaluation period from June 1 to May 31.
- (2) Library faculty assigned activities are based 80% on primary activities and 20% on service and scholarly or creative activities.
- (3) Assigned activities may include a mix of priorities from the library faculty position description, as well as activities in support of the Library's strategic plan and goals for that year.
- (4) Assigned activities shall be recorded on a Library Faculty Assigned Activities form (Appendix H1-2), which will be completed and signed by the library faculty member and his/her supervisor by August 15. The Library Faculty Assigned Activities form shall be placed in the library faculty member's evaluation file.
- (5) The University Administration shall make a reasonable and good-faith effort, consistent with the other provisions of this Agreement, to provide faculty with the necessary facilities, resources, and staff support for carrying out their assigned duties and responsibilities. No library faculty's workload shall be arbitrary or unreasonable to the extent that the faculty member is unable to perform primary, service, and scholarly or creative activities to meet the requirements of this Agreement. If a library faculty member is asked or expected to accept assignments in excess of his/her job description or assigned activities, this shall be taken into account and allowances made by the evaluator when assessing the faculty member's progress toward completion of assigned activities.
- (6) The Library Faculty member's supervisor will take steps to ensure equitable opportunity, in relation to other faculty members in the same department/ unit, to fulfill applicable criteria for evaluation, promotion, and merit salary increases.
- (7) Changes in assigned activities may be proposed by the faculty member, his/her supervisor, or the appropriate library director during the course of an evaluation year. Should changes become necessary or desirable, a new Library Faculty Assigned Activities Form shall be completed, signed by the faculty member and his/her supervisor, and placed in the library faculty member's evaluation file.
- (8) A faculty member and /or his/her supervisor may request a mid-year review of assigned activities to discuss current progress on the year's activities. The faculty member may request in writing written feedback and the supervisor shall provide written feedback within two weeks of the mid-year review.

(c) Library Faculty Annual Report of Activities

104 Library faculty shall represent their job performance and progress toward completion of 105 assigned activities in a Library Annual Report of Activities (Appendix H1-1). The Annual 106 Report of Activities will include any interpretative comments and/or supporting data that the 107 faculty member deems appropriate in evaluating his/her performance, including additional 108 activities accomplished beyond those assigned, service, and scholarly and/ or creative activity.
109 Information from other sources which can be included with the Library Faculty Annual
110 Report of Activities might include, but is not limited to, comments from peers, teaching
111 faculty, and members of the profession with whom the faculty member has worked. The 112 intent of this provision is to provide the faculty member with a broad opportunity to display
113 his/her performance over the previous year which will allow for a comprehensive evaluation.
114

115 3. Evaluation Rating Categories

116
117 (a) Each Library faculty member shall be evaluated in each area of assigned duties, viz.
118 performance or primary activities and services activities, consistent with the following rating
119 categories.

120
121 Meets Expectations

122
123 Exceeds Expectations

124
125 Far Exceeds Expectations

126
127 Below Expectations

28
129 Unsatisfactory

130
131 (b) It is the responsibility of the faculty member to provide the supervisor with sufficient
132 information to permit the supervisor to conduct an effective evaluation of the faculty
133 member's performance of his/her assigned duties. It is expected that the faculty member will 134 provide evidence of his/ her accomplishments to serve as a foundation for the rating assigned
135 to those accomplishments. The evaluator must take into account any relevant materials
136 submitted by the faculty member. If a faculty member fails to provide evidence of his/her 137 accomplishments, the department chair/ unit supervisor will complete the evaluation based on 138 available information. It is the responsibility of the supervisor to make comprehensive
139 assessments of the evidence provided by the faculty member. Each supervisor completing a 140 performance evaluation shall articulate sufficient and specific grounds or reasons to
141 substantiate the rating given in each assigned category and to articulate how the faculty
142 member's performance can be improved.
143

144 4. Criteria for Library Performance Ratings.

145
146 The supervisor shall assign a rating to each area of assigned duties, primary activities, service, and 147 scholarly and/or creative activities, and shall carefully consider the nature of the assignments and 148 quality of the performance in these areas as follows:

149
150 (a) Primary activities. For library faculty, performance or activities as listed in the job description
151 and expressed in the annual Library Faculty Assigned Activities form constitutes 80% of the 152 assigned duties for library faculty. Demonstration of job performance will differ according to

153 the area of responsibility within the Library and the particular circumstances of each library
154 faculty member.

156 (b) Service and scholarly and/or creative activities constitute 20% of assigned duties for library
157 faculty. In general, service activities include participation on committees outside of the 158 library, activity in professional organizations, and other forms of engagement in the library
159 profession. In general, scholarly and/or creative activities include contributions and products
160 of intellectual activity, such as professional publications, presentations, grant proposals, and 161 reviews.

162
163 (c) Rating structure: The rating structure presented here serves as a model.

164
165 (1) A rating of Meets Expectations will be demonstrated by successfully meeting the 166 normal performance standards of the position description. The faculty member's 167 performance includes a combination of the following: a sufficient level of 168 organization and planning to complete assigned activities by deadlines with some 169 direction from the supervisor, and responsiveness to library users. Service and
170 research/creative/scholarly activities reflect the commitment to the University
171 community, engagement in professional development, and participation in the 172 broader professional community outside of the university.

173
174 (2) A rating of Exceeds Expectations will be demonstrated by a faculty member
175 exceeding in quantity and/or quality the normal minimum performance standards
176 of those rated Meets Expectations.

177
178 (3) A rating of Far Exceeds Expectations will be demonstrated by a faculty member
179 exceeding in quantity and/or quality the expectations for those rated Exceeds
180 Expectations.

182 (4) A rating of Below Expectations will be demonstrated by a faculty member failing
183 to meet the normal minimal performance standards of those rated Meets
184 Expectations.

186 (5) A rating of Unsatisfactory will be demonstrated by a faculty member engaging in 187 practices that are detrimental to supporting student and faculty success. There is 188 evidence that the faculty member lacks the competence to perform the 189 requirements of the job description and remediation is unsuccessful. Service and 190 research/creative/scholarly activities reflect little to no engagement in the 191 university or professional community.

192
193 5. Annual Evaluation Process and Timeline

194
195 (a) The supervisor shall provide to his/her supervised faculty instructions for submission of a faculty
196 member's Annual Report of Activities no later than April 1.

197
198 (b) Each library faculty member shall submit to his/ her supervisor the faculty member's Annual
199 Report of Activities no later than June 1. If a library faculty member fails to provide his/her
200 annual report by this date, the supervisor shall proceed to complete the faculty member's
201 evaluation without that information unless the library Dean has extended the deadline based on 202 extenuating circumstances that justify the extension.
